

Donna Schneider has lived in the Upper Marlboro, MD area for over 40 years and has been a volunteer for county civic and history-related organizations for just as long. She started her relationship with College Park Aviation Museum as a volunteer when the museum opened in September 1998. This was a natural interest, as her dad is a retired Air Force pilot, who later flew as a commercial airlines pilot and her mom was a flight attendant. Donna has worked for the Export-Import Bank for over 30 years and enjoys baking and travel. She is currently the president of the Prince George's County Historical Society and a Prince George's County Historic Preservation Commissioner.

I plan to support the College Park Aviation Museum and College Park Airport by utilizing my access to a network of potential stakeholders from my long service with various county organizations. Through the Prince George's County Historical Society, I can encourage and support museum programs and activities. In addition, my in-depth historic preservation knowledge and access can be used as a resource when needed.
