

Lucia Mencia is an active pilot, involved with many STEM projects.

She is an architect and President of Aero-Biz Development Group, LLC, an architecture firm specializing in aviation architecture. For the last twenty years, I have been a professional aviation architect that has specialized in aviation planning, terminal upgrades, hangar modernizations, airport planning including fly-in aviation communities. I am aware of the issues, problems and potential solutions of pilots, airports, air-communities.

I plan to be an active contributing Board Member of the College Park Maryland Aviation Museum Board. I believe that my life has been one of contributing to the aviation mission and am confident that I would be able to successfully contribute to College Park Aviation Museum.
